

Communications with Remarkable Beings

Through David Furlong

Communication with a being known as H-A

General Background

For most of my life, I can remember having a connection with non-physical beings who communicated to me through my imaginal senses. As a child, I used to think that it was God or Jesus that was speaking to me. As I moved from my teenage years into adulthood, I accepted it as some form of inner guidance that gave a sense of direction to my life. I began to discern different 'voices' in this communication both in the way that I accessed the information as well as a sense of the voice behind the message. Some seemed to have a male orientation and others female. In my early twenties, I started to expand my range of awareness and became conscious of different entities, some human and some not and others which seemed stuck or 'earthbound'. At the time I worked with a small group of spiritual researchers who had access to channelled teachings that helped to make sense of what I was picking up and discovering for myself. Since then I have considerably expanded my range telepathic connections to include both plant and animals. This chronicle diarises a series of communications with different beings both incarnate and discarnate from October 2018 to May 2019.

28 October to 4 November

Background

The first of these dialogues is with a discarnate being that I have come to know as H-A. I first became aware of this being in my early twenties and have heard his communications through other sensitives as well as being able to establish a link with him myself. These communications came as a series of messages, both verbal and imaginal, often in the early hours of the morning received over a few days. My request was for him to communicate what consciousness means from his perspective.

H-A

We welcome this opportunity to communicate with you. I use the term 'we' deliberately for although I am a unit of consciousness with my unique beingness, I am seamlessly in communication with colleagues that operate from my level of awareness. It is very hard for us to convey to your minds the extent of this infusion of thought both in its breadth and depth. We feel the best way to do this would be through an analogy.

Imagine for a moment that you are sitting around a circular table with twelve to fifteen companions present. You are resting your hands on the table with just the tips of your little fingers touching. This link is enough for you to be aware of every flicker of emotion, every nuance of thought that passes both through you and through the minds of your companions. Let us also imagine that all your experiences and memories are instantaneously available to you, and not just from your current life but all your incarnations plus those experiences between lives, while in the spiritual realm. In this state, all you are and have ever been is instantly present in a profound knowingness. In addition, your link to those around the table lays bare the totality of their unique evolutionary experiences that now blend into a single coherent mind with its nodal points of consciousness. Moreover, your circle is not isolated but touches other circles creating a vast neural network that stretches into infinity, all bound together in a harmonious and completely loving state that embraces the universe in which we all reside. This analogy gives a faint glimmer of what consciousness means to us, although we have no form that you could comprehend being pure 'consciousness'.

As beings, we are neither male nor female for in our evolutionary journey we have learned how to blend these twin polarities into a synthesised whole. Neither have we evolved through the human race for we were present at the birth of your solar system and have been involved with its growth and development ever since. Although at a high-level of spiritual evolution, we still acknowledge those planes of consciousness beyond us, that stem from the Creative Essence behind all spiritual awareness.

As part of our experiential journey, our present focus is helping planet Earth transition through its current 'dark' cycle back into the 'light'. Although we have no need of physical incarnation from time to time, some of us have incarnated onto your planet to assist with this transformational process. It was in one of these incarnations that I first directly connected with the spirit of David, which is why he can link through to me now and tends to perceive me in a male form.

We are here to help humanity in any way that we can while conforming to the directional impulse of the universe. This means that we honour your 'free-will' and will not interfere with your development unless our help is specifically requested. We offer, love, tolerance, understanding and the insight to help individuals transform the 'shadow' elements of their psyche and through them into the collective. We do not judge or condemn, proffering compassion and understanding to all spirits that inhabit your world, whether they are held in the 'light' or caught in the tentacled web of 'darkness'. These latter spirits need extra love and compassion, not vilification, for they suffer greatly and, it is through their suffering that they tend to inflict pain on those around them.

As human beings, you are limited by your mental capacity. All human incarnations are spiritual experiences. To access the wisdom of your spirit, you first need to acknowledge your soul that holds your life-force energy. From there, via your Higher-Self, you can learn to communicate with your Spirit and from there into the consciousness of the Universe with all of its wisdom. Imagine now that it is your Spirit that is sat around a table, as I have already described, with a profoundly loving connection to each of your companions, allowing your collective minds to reach out and embrace the magnificence of the universe of which you are an integral part. We do not ask you to accept or believe what we have conveyed here but if something of this message resonates within you then open your heart, mind and soul to the spiritual impulse of the Universe and allow that profound wisdom and ocean of love to flood your being and then, through you, into the world you inhabit.

Critique and Personal Assessment

This communication was received both telepathically and through visual images. Having drafted it out initially, I received further promptings that some elements needed to be amplified or slightly amended to more accurately convey what was being relayed. Some of the ideas expressed here were not new to me but the image of the table and the sense of beings of 'light' sat around it was unexpected. It is some time since I have tried to sit down and access this level of information, so I apologise to those 'higher beings' if what has been stated has not been relayed as they intended. I sense that they would be happy, to answer any specific questions that those who have read this communication might have.
